Guys. I've seen too many gofundme things for help with funeral expenses to not urge you to plan ahead for the worst- get life insurance 🙄

Why have life insurance when you can @gofundme your own funeral? (and your last three-to-six vacations btw. And a beemer) #crowdfunding

You guys can't depend on gofundme for everything. And gofundme isn't an alternative to life insurance

As soon as a mf die the family wants to make a gofundme account. GoFundMe is not life insurance 😂😂😂 #SorryNotSorry

You in the streets, get life insurance, forget the gofundme

For real, it really breaks my heart seeing someone pass and then a GoFundMe is created. People please invest in life insurance!

Gofundme is not a life insurance. Educate yourself please.

chloe @MCLAINCHLOE · Jan 19
Unpopular opinion: gofundme is not life insurance. Crowdfunding does not replace proper planning.

Idle Housewife @AlishaMRM · Apr 14
GoFundMe for dead people is shit. It's not my fault you didn't have life insurance.

. @Kateria_ · May 13
People really need to invest in life insurance. That way people can stop with these gofundme accounts.

Ok, I'm heartless, but ppl using GoFundMe to raise $ for "parenting costs" when a loved one dies. Doesn't anyone have life insurance?

GoFundMe is NOT a life insurance program! Every other day I am seeing a crowdfunding campaign for a funeral. Planning is still important.

Really sick of people using crowdfunding to retroactively pay for the costs of being an adult. Get health and life insurance already.

I'm dropping all my insurance coverage. From now on, if I run into trouble, I'll just start a #GoFundMe account in its place. #modernworld
